1.	Serendipity Arts	Serendipity Arts, a unit of KK Birla Academy is an organisation that facilitates pluralistic cultural expressions, sparking conversations around the arts across the South Asian region. Committed to innovation and creativity, the aim of the serendipity is to support practice and research in the arts, as well as to promote sustainability and education in the field through a range of cultural and collaborative initiatives.	"Serendipity Arts are now building a Live Museum (Cultural Centre) in Vasant Kunj, New Delhi to foster growth and preservation of various Art Forms. The Museum will be state of art with world class technological integration. Serendipity Arts have selected the conceptual framework of the Live Museum purposefully. Unlike a traditional museum, it will not just house art objects, but become a home for the artistic processes that simultaneously expand and renew our engagement with multiple histories, ideas, and methods through a layering between artistic practices from history as well as experimentation and technological development that will define the future of the arts."	1,75,00,000
2.	Isha Foundation	Isha Vidhya rural schools have been started in villages (under the umbrella of Isha Education, established in 2005) to provide high-quality school education to underprivileged rural children who cannot otherwise access or afford it. Isha Vidhya's English-medium schools open the door for rural children to prepare for higher studies	Currently all our rural schools have only wired fence on the perimeter, because of which we are facing lot of issues such as safety & security issues, thefts occurring at school during the night. We also have snakes coming in from the neighboring fields, which sometimes pose threats to our children. We therefore propose to build brick compound walls in all our schools, which is also a	6,25,000
